The Space CODEV Community

Current state

The Space CODEV platform (this platform) is currently operated by the European Space Agency (ESA) according to the Terms & Conditions.

The platform is open to European Space entities such as international or national Space agencies, Space industry, Academia and other European entities or individuals with an interest in the Space domain.

We need your help!

A goal for the Space CODEV platform, is to follow the model of Open Source communities and grow past ESA evoluting into a living, independent, community with its own governance body, e.g. an European non-profit organization.

Any help or support in this respect would be highly appreciated, please provide your related ideas or suggestions to codev-support@esa.int!